Anti Tracking

“AirTag is designed to discourage unwanted tracking. If someone else’s AirTag finds its way into your stuff, your iPhone will notice it’s traveling with you and send you an alert. After a while, if you still haven’t found it, the AirTag will start playing a sound to let you know it’s there.

Of course, if you happen to be with a friend who has an AirTag, or on a train with a whole bunch of people with AirTag, don’t worry. These alerts are triggered only when an AirTag is separated from its owner.” from Apple

Now reduced to random 8 to 24 hours instead of three days. Much shorter would cause issues like on public transportation if you didn’t have your IOS device.

Not a Anti Theft device.

- Many seem concerned the Airtags beeping may alert a thief. Airtags are not a Anti Theft device.
- Most pro crooks will extract the valuables from a purse, backpack, fanny pack, etc and keep the valuables. The container will be tossed.
